I am for leaving Microsoft alone. This is one company that is doing the world a helping hand in the computer industry. If it was not for Microsoft technology would not be where it is today. Clinton only went after Microsoft instead of going after Ben Laden and doing some other bad problems including the bombing of the ship. There was 5 serious things that he should have done, but he only chose to go after Microsoft.

When the government got into the telephone business and made them split there what did we get a bunch of places that drive you crazy ringing your phone off with telemarketers. Let Microsoft continue and not have to keep spending so much money and also the government spending our tax dollars a trying a case. They have done nothing wrong. They have done more for the economy than any one else. Government just can't stand to see anyone be a success. Bill Gates has given millions out to help the needy and charities. LEAVE HIM ALONE.
